Weather Probabilities.—For this section showers tonight. Tuesday fair, higher temperature; fresh northeasterly winds, becoming southeasterly.

Injunction Proceedings.—Much interest is contred bereabouts in the case of Mayor Simpson ve, the Board of Police Commissioners, which will be decided by Judge Nicol of the Circuit Court at Manassas today. Opinion as to the outcome seems divided, a large percentage of the community who have interested themselves in the issue believing the injunction will be perpetuated, and an equally large number.

Hence the judge's decision is awaited anxiously. The champions of both parties in the embroglio sincerely desire that the status of the Mayor may be defined once and forever, and the unfortunate disputes which have convulsed the city during by-gone years be buried out of sight. The case has been ably argued by Mr. John M. Johnson, couosel for the Mayor, and by Col. F. L. Smith and Mr. S. G. Brent, who represent the commis-Brent, who represent the commis-

A DISMAL SUNDAY.—Yesterday was a veritable day of rest, as rain fell throughout its entire course. rendering outdoor maneuvers uncomfortable. Be-sides the temperature was rather too low for comfort, and in some instances overcoats were again donned. It was a had day for summer attire. The wind sw steadly from the northeast and sw steadly from the northeast and see was an uncreasing patter of rain, lile ragged clouds chased each other ward the southwest. Toward every point of the compass banks of mist could be seen, and often nothing else in the direction of the Maryland shore or the south side of Hunting creek. The majority of people remained housebound, and by reading, sleeping and yawning managed to while away the weary hours. There was a material falling off in church congregations at the morning services and a more marked diminution at night.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES YESTERDAY.—
The inclement weather caused some vacant pews yesterday. The services at St. Mary's Church were conducted by Rev. W. Gaston Payne, of Warrenton. Second mass, commencing on Sunday next, will be held at 10 a. m., and not 10:30 o'clock, as heretofore. Vespers will be held at 5 p. m., instead of 4 p. m. At the other churches the resident pastors occupied the pulpits. The services at the Railroad Reading Rooms in the afternoon were conducted Rooms in the afternoon were conducted by R.v. R. K. EVERYTHING NEW THIS SEASON.—A. G. Allen's Original New Orleans Minstrels is billed to appear here under canvas on next Wednesday night. This company was organised in New Orleans and is owned and managed by southern management and more than two-thirds of the colored people with the company are natives of the South. The company has been before the public for more than 20 years and comes rich in experience in the art of entertaining. There is nothing said or done that will be unfit for the eyes and ears of ledies and children; their business is to entertain and amuse and at the same time elevate. Performance at Old Fair grounds.

Museo L Spotswood, of Richmond, has recently acquired by purchase from Mr. John Herndon, of this city an old tea caddy that was for years in daily use in Governor Spotswood's mansion. The caddy is of silver, and bears the Spotswood coat-of-arms and crest. It is a valuable relic.
